

OFFICIATING LIFE-EVENTS BY CRAIG MARSHALL

Monk for 35 years
Non-Denominational Minister
Ceremony Officiant
Transformational Counselor

Craig Marshall was a yoga monk for 35 years and performed inspiring ceremonies for thousands, including Beatle George Harrison, fashion icon Fred Segal and actress Mariel Hemingway. Craig is a non-denominational minister who uplifts audiences with his warmth, spiritual insight and message of unconditional love.

*“People still talk about our wedding ceremony.
Craig united everyone in a bond of pure love.”*

Arielle Paul Gross
singer & songwriter

Craig performs ceremonies worldwide and brings to each event his warm personality, beautiful voice, and inspiring presence. Each event is personalized to reflect the beliefs, customs, and unique personality of the individuals. He regularly conducts many types of services – marriage, baptism, memorial, graduation, affirmation, special commitment, and renewal of marriage vows. You can create your own special non-traditional ceremony with Craig.

Craig offers his services to people of every walk of life. His cheerful openness is a reflection of his personal life purpose – helping people honor their deepest call. His ceremonies are always inspiring, making everyone (no matter what their faith may be) feel that they are a part of something special.

“Before my mother passed away, she left specific instructions. She wanted Craig to host a special ceremony that would be a happy occasion. Craig gave people of all faiths a once-in-a-lifetime experience – of peace, love...and a joy I remember to this day.”

Co - Creating Timeless Ceremonies With You

One of the things that make Craig such a popular and respected Officiant is his openness and flexibility. He gets to know individuals and couples before their ceremony. No matter what type of program is planned, everyone works together to orchestrate each step of the event in order to create the desired atmosphere and specialness.

Craig is always happy to make suggestions on elements of the service, but remains open to requests of the individuals. He deeply honors their wishes, and realizes that each person has specific memories which he or she wants to create.

As a personal consultant, Craig is available to work with individuals before and after the ceremony, to support each person in every way. He regularly counsels individuals and couples with pre- and follow-up guidance on important aspects of life. Craig is respected for meeting people's needs in an inspired and non-judgmental way. His 35 years as a monastic qualifies him to address all the many challenges of life, and his many friends respect his empathy and depth.

ABOUT CRAIG

Craig was a child actor and later graduated from USC Film School. Then, his life changed direction. His spirit of inquiry called him to become a yoga monk for the next 35 years. As a popular minister and counselor, Craig conducted many ceremonies, serving thousands around the world, including many well-known people.

Today, Craig is a licensed celebrant, life-coach and friend. People praise his sincerity and humor, plus his special ability to create a meaningful space, in which all can connect. Craig is all about helping people honor their deepest call.

"I was thrilled when Craig agreed to perform my wedding. I don't know any other Officiant who could have brought our families and friends together in such a profound and loving way. People are still talking about it."

Jeff Rona, soundtrack composer

Craig's book The Next You reflects his interest in personal growth. He's been called one of the most profound thought-leaders of our time. Craig's services are a celebration of love, which reflects the unique values of participants. He has spoken before groups as large as 7,000, and audiences are regularly moved by his charming ability to connect on a personal level. The Vice-President of NBC Studios, who books inspirational speakers, said, "Craig is the best public speaker I ever heard."

"You are something greater than anything and everything you are seeking."
